Key Insights

1. Sales grew fast, with a peak in November

Observation: Orders grew through 2017 and stayed high in 2018. November 2017 was the highest month.

Interpretation: The business grew quickly in its first year. The November spike is due to Black Friday.

Business Impact: Stock, sellers and delivery need to be ready before November.

2. Late delivery leads to low reviews

Observation: About 8% of orders were delivered late. On-time orders got about 4.3 stars, late orders about 2.5 stars. This is true in almost every state.

Interpretation: Customers mainly judge whether the order comes on time. Reviews drop sharply once an order is late.

Business Impact: Improving on-time delivery is the easiest way to improve customer satisfaction.

3. Very few customers come back

Observation: Only about 3% of customers ordered more than once.

Interpretation: The business depends almost fully on new customers. Late delivery alone does not explain this.

Business Impact: Spend money to get a new customer for almost every order. Even a small rise in repeat buyers will add revenue.

4. Most sales come from SP

Observation: SP state has about 41% of orders and the fastest delivery.

Interpretation: Most sellers are in this area, so nearby customers get orders faster.

Business Impact: Slow delivery is holding back growth in other states.

5. Most orders are small

Observation: Median order value is 105.29 but the average is 160.58.

Interpretation: Most customers place small orders. A few big orders pull the average up.

Business Impact: Bundles or a free shipping limit can increase the basket size.

6. A few categories bring most revenue

Observation: Top categories by revenue are health_beauty, watches_gifts and bed_bath_table.

Interpretation: Revenue depends heavily on these few categories.

Business Impact: Stock, seller quality and delivery in these categories matter the most.

7. Some categories and sellers have low ratings

Observation: The lowest rated categories are around 3.5 to 3.8 stars, while the overall average is 4.1. Some sellers with 50+ reviews are also well below average.

Interpretation: Most reviews are 5 stars, so even a small drop in average is a real problem.

Business Impact: These categories and sellers are pulling down overall satisfaction.

8. Credit card is the main payment method

Observation: About three out of four orders are paid by credit card. Boleto is second. Vouchers have the lowest value.

Interpretation: Customers prefer cards, often with installments. Vouchers are used to pay for part of an order.

Business Impact: Card payment and installment options are very important for sales.
